

Air, Light and View Worth $7,488 Total

Three Burnaby residents and two in Surrey are richer by $7,488 paid by the highways department.

An order-in-council said the department has agreed to pay $5,032 to Alice and Mary Murchison and Leonard Howington of Burnaby, and $2,456 to Jelle and Jannette Van Der Veen of Surrey.

The payments were made "without admitting any liability" for loss of air, light and view in separate highway projects.

Hear Parents, Youth Urged

Young people were begged to listen to the voice of experience of their parents by evangelist Barry Moore in an impassioned plea to more than 2,400 spectators at Central Junior High School last night.

"If you could see all the anguish and grief behind a pair of baby blue eyes as I have, as many have come to my high school office, you would not be doing many of the things you are doing, looking at many of the things you are looking at and tasting what fully 50 per cent of the high school population of Canada is tasting," Mr. Moore said.

At a previous meeting here Mr. Moore said 50 per cent of Canada's high school population imbibed alcoholic beverages.

He also said that, for years the ratio of girl to boy delin-

VANCOUVER (CP) — Picket curbing controls sought by representatives of British Columbia manufacturers Association Friday by labor leaders, between sessions here of the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Labor. The B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers Association asked Thursday, in a brief to the provincial cabinet, for new strike controls including fines up to $500 and three months in jail for "mystery" pickets.

CARRY CARDS

The manufacturers asked specifically for restriction of picketing of plants where labor disputes exist and laws requiring pickets to carry identification cards bearing union authorization.

Pat O'Neal, labor federation secretary, commented:

"This seems like a wild and unreasonable demand which I am sure the government will ignore."

"Of course, the CMA are always asking for restrictive labor legislation, and thus far they have been quite successful in having the government accede to their wishes."

Pen Baskin, international representative of the United Steelworkers of America, said he is confident the labor movement will be united in opposition to the proposals.

SINGLED OUT

Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, said the proposed terms would be discriminatory because they single out a particular type of protest.

YOUTH NIGHT

RESULTS CITED

"God says if you will come to my son Jesus I will forget your past."

More than 100, mostly teenagers, came forward to be counseled when Mr. Moore called on the audience to surrender to Christ.

A B.C. telephone official said it was the first time in

B.C. a closed-circuit television system was used to transmit to an overflow audience in other rooms of the school.

Must Retain Rights

Morris, appearing here as a fraternal delegate, spoke in the wake of a three-day convention of the AFL-CIO's Maritime Trades Department at which the CLC and its officers were condemned for their position in the trusteeship action and the department pledged to fight for removal of the trusteeship law.

MEANY SPEAKS

The Canadian labor leader was introduced to the 1,200 delegates in the convention hall by AFL-CIO President George Meany, who previously has expressed opposition to the trusteeship and has been critical of CLC President Claude Jodoin in connection with the dispute.

When Morris had concluded, Meany said:

"I share his feelings that whatever differences there may be should be worked out by a common approach based on the principles of our two movements."

FIRST MENTION

Morris' speech was the first mention before the general sessions of the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations of the Canadian issue.

The possibility that it might not be the last was raised by Walter Reuther, an AFL-CIO vice-president and head of the United Auto Workers. He told reporters his position unchanged from last week when he said Harold C. Banks should have been removed from office as head of the Seafarers' International Union in Canada through the ethical practices code of the AFL-CIO.

DO NOT WANT IT

I agree that some cases of overeating, overdrinking, or over-anything-else may be a psychiatric problem. But let's not forget that psychiatry, like any other branch of medicine, can do only so much. It can do a lot for the patient who WANTS to get better. It can do much for the patient who, in effect, says, "Do it all for me. I'm too weak and lazy to try to help myself."

DO IT YOURSELF

But they aren't brought up as children to indulge in alcohol and nicotine. When a person says he "can't quit," he cannot blame anyone else for acquiring the habit. He did it himself. And whether he stops, or moderates, his use of these things is a matter of desire—he wants to enough to DO so.

For the diabetic who is a problem drinker, I can say only that he doesn't want to live. Doesn't want to, that is, enough to do what he must

Teachers Accept

The teachers' requests would have meant another $418,000 on the district salary bill of $3,859,713.

The board's offer means another $122,000.

IF NECESSARY

Last night was the deadline for conciliation. Dec. 31 was the deadline for final settlement, by arbitration if necessary.

The board's offer will mean principals will receive, in allowances above their basic salaries, increases ranging from $2,091 to $4,771.

FIGURES GIVEN

Teachers' salary increases as offered, with the requests in brackets, follow (the initials indicate either elementary or professional categories, in grades of conditional, basic and advanced):

EC $3,000-$3,700 ($3,100-$3,840); EA $3,600-$5,700 ($3,650-$5,800); EA $4,000-$6,250 ($4,050-$6,350); PC

$4,400-$7,160 ($4,500-$7,440); PB $5,000-$8,315 ($5,100-$8,455); PA $5,350-$9,060 ($5,450-$9,300).

Unions 'Cannibalistic'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Delegates at the B.C. Federation of Labor charged CLC officials and officials at the Canadian Labor Congress are indulging in vicious cannibalism by raiding unions inside and outside the CLC.

Following a heated debate, the federation agreed to set up a committee to try to bring out-side unions back into the CLC.

U.K. Police Facing Shakeup

The bill comes on the heels of a recent scandal in which it was disclosed two detectives in Sheffield beat suspects with a "rhino whip."

Gunfight Kills Police Chief

ELGIN, Tex. (UPI) — A young suspect wanted for a Florida-to-Louisiana holdup, kidnapping and car theft spree, shot and killed Police Chief J. M. Mumford, 54, Friday night and wounded Texas highway patrolman Tom Moseley.

Sheriff Jimmy Nutt said the suspect, Randolph Grady Coffee, Jr., 20, of Cocoa, Fla., began shooting when Mumford and Moseley stopped him and his 16-year-old girl companion for questioning.

When they stopped Coffee's car and got out, Nutt said, Coffee opened fire with a .38-

Two truck drivers slugged calibre pistol. In all, Nutt ran toward Coffee's car and Coffee admitted holding up service stations in Florida and Mississippi, stealing the car they were in and kidnapping a service station attendant in Florida and two other men in Mississippi.

Dukes said Coffee fired one shot, then dropped the gun when he slugged him. He said Coffee told the girl to "get the gun and kill them." She ran for it, but Harris grabbed it first.

The two kidnapped men were found safe.

Geneva-Talk Deadlock Ended at UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The UN General Assembly's main committee approved Friday a call for new disarmament talks in Geneva with the aim of reducing risks of war.

The 111-nation committee accepted a resolution setting out guidelines for the 18-nation disarmament commission expected to convene in Geneva early in 1964.

The committee thus maintained the so-called Spirit of Moscow — under pressure elsewhere since the summer signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty.

The resolution sponsored by 47 nations was introduced after a U.S.-Soviet compromise on wording broke a week-long deadlock.

The Minor Muddle

BECAUSE the young people of today are more mature, and better educated, the movement in the Commons to reduce the federal voting age from 21 to 18 is probably wise and proper.

It has long been felt that if an eighteen-year-old is old enough to join the forces in the defence of his country, he should also at that age be entitled to a vote. Where the voting age limit has been reduced elsewhere there is no evidence to show that young people have not taken their franchise rights seriously.

The action at Ottawa, however, indicates that the time is ripe to take a new look at the entire field of junior responsibility.

At the moment the federal voting age is 21; in some provinces it is also 21; in Quebec and Saskatchewan 18's and over get the vote; in British Columbia and Alberta the voting age is 19.

In matters of law, a person is a minor until he is 21 years of age. This means that until that time he cannot be held to a legal contract; but he can sign a document that makes him in law a married man.

He can open a bank account and operate a chequing account in connection with it; but if he wants to buy an automobile on time the contract has to be signed by a parent or guardian, who then becomes responsible in law.

In British Columbia, youth has a wide assortment of privileges and restrictions. While he can vote provincially at 19, he has to wait until he is 21 to get a vote in the city of Victoria and in most municipalities; he is also debarred from buying or consuming alcoholic refreshments if he is under 21.

Yet while he is liable to be called before the magistrate if he drinks a glass of cider or beer until he has reached the legal age, he can obtain a licence to drive a mechanically propelled vehicle with which he could do immeasurably more harm — if not to himself, at least to others.

It might be argued that while it is right to give the 18-year-olds a federal and provincial vote, it could be wrong to give them the franchise municipally where few minors are either property-holders, tenants or tax-payers in any shape or form.

At the same time, the old habit of regarding the 21st birthday as the moment when the young person gets the key of the door is antediluvian, and the whole question of youth and its official privileges and restraints is one that might be worthy of royal commission study.

Poor Odds

IN HIS Ottawa Offbeat column on this page Thursday, Mr. Richard Jackson put forward an intriguing thought. Come the next election, he suggested, and for the sake of $200, the cost of being posted as a candidate, a good many Canadians are apt to take a flyer on a fortune — one that could amount to the equivalent of $88,000 in earnings in four years as a member of Parliament, or a quarter of a million in twelve years plus a pension for life.

This is the temptation posed by the raising of MPs' pay to $18,000 with $6,000 of it tax-free, and no one will deny that such emolument is a worthwhile prize. But winning it with total investment of $200, in competition with present members?

Mr. Jackson himself says the odds are long. Long, it might be suggested, is hardly the word. Lacking the support of one of the parties already established in the House and its financial resources, it is almost beyond imagination that anyone could come out at the head of the poll without advertising, without literature, without even hiring a hall to speak to the ten or twenty listeners who might turn out these days.

A reasonable chance, in brief, is bound to be at least moderately expensive. Hence despite the sweet dream of a wonderful income, it is hardly to be expected that at the next election the ballots will be crowded with the names of independents taking a shot at it on the cheap.

On the other hand, over a period of years and within party organizations, the prize may result in the emergence of more candidates of impressive stature — men and women well qualified but who in the past have been reluctant to give up more secure and better-paid livings for public service.

There seems to be general agreement that members of Parliament helped themselves too generously when they raised their pay this year. The increase does not appear to have resulted in a significant improvement in their attention to the people's business. But it is to be hoped and probably expected that on the broad scene—and certainly with no reflection on our own local MPs—one result of the higher parliamentary remuneration will be to bring forth candidates of superior ability who hitherto have found themselves economically barred.

Banning Books

MR. JOSEPH SLOGAN (Springfield): Mr. Speaker, I have a supplementary question for the Minister of Justice. Would the minister comment on the attitude of his department toward the spreading pornographic and obscene literature in Canada and the importation thereof? More specifically, perhaps he would comment on the statement by a departmental official, as reported in this morning's Globe and Mail, that "the definition of obscenity is there but no one seems to care. Until the courts ban a book, there's no sense of our doing it." Would the minister indicate whether it will henceforth be necessary to go to court before an obscene book will be banned from entry into Canada?

Hon. Lionel Chevrier (Minister of Justice): Mr. Speaker, before I comment on a statement of that nature I think I would want an opportunity to read it.

Some hon. Members: Oh, oh.

Mr. Chevrier: I had in mind the statement; not the book. However, I would have no objection to reading the book ...

"We'll recommend that it be banned when we finish reading it."

The Broederbond

South Africa's Secret Society

By a Special OFNS Correspondent

A POLICE raid on a Johannesburg newspaper which has been engaged for the past year in an exposure of the Afrikaner Broederbond (Bond of Brothers) has intensified public interest in the activities of this unusual secret society. Most members of Dr. Verwoerd's cabinet belong to the Broederbond, as do key public servants, top army and police officers, and selected individuals in practically every walk of life.

Only Afrikaners may belong to the Broederbond. There is no procedure for application for membership. Without their knowledge, the names of selected individuals are circulated privately to members, and if the nomination meets with general approval, they are then invited to join.

The Broederbond controls public affairs in South Africa to a degree which even the government cannot manage. It is a kind of Afrikaner elite whose backroom boys help to formulate basic policy and whose marginal membership sees to it that this policy is implemented.

Since the Second World War, Broederbond has operated under a virtually impenetrable veil of secrecy, so much so that many English-speaking South Africans have questioned its existence or have dismissed it as a harmless cultural organization. But Afrikaners — speaking South Africans, who take their politics seriously — regard the Bond in an entirely different light.

In 1935, the late General J. B. M. Hertzog, then prime minister, denounced the organization in a series of sensational revelations. He also publicly denounced his son, Dr. Albert Hertzog, for his membership of the Bond and warned him that his "friends" would lead him to disaster. Today, Dr. Albert Hertzog is minister of posts and telegraphs in the government. Under his administration, the South African Broadcasting Corporation has changed from being an impartial corporation into a branch of the government's propaganda services.

Shortly after the Nationalist government came to power in 1948, Dr. Eben Dongoen, now minister of finance, admitted that he had held very high office in the group. Dr. Verwoerd is a member, as were the previous Nationalist prime ministers, Mr. Hans Strydom and Dr. Daniel Malan.

On December 13, 1943, Dr. Verwoerd, addressing the Broederbond's annual (secret) meeting in Bloemfontein, said: "The Afrikaner Broederbond must gain control of everything it can lay its hands on in every walk of life in South Africa. Members must help each other to gain promotion in the public service or any other field of activity in which they work, with a view to working themselves up into important administrative positions."

In that same year, Professor L. van Rooy, of Potchefstroom University College, then chairman of the Broederbond, and Mr. Ivan Makape Lombard, of Johannesburg, chief secretary since the Bond's inception, issued a secret circular in which they said:

"Let us bear in mind the fact that the main point is for Afrikanerdom to reach

Flashes of Humor

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

ALTHOUGH sometimes, on June 27, 1959, a call from the dire and doleful news that comes out of this troubled capital, you must wonder be reassured, it isn't really ALL chaos, crisis, debt and disaster, turmoils and taxes it only seems that way.

To brighten the usually dark and foreboding political day, there are flashes of humor amid all the gloom not infrequently even laughs.

Like the other night at nearby Carleton University where State Secretary J. W. Pickersgill, that formidable Jack of All Cabinet Trades, was giving the undergraduates the Parliament Hill score.

There was Jolly John, clever political "inside man" for Prime Minister Pearson as he was for Prime Ministers Mackenzie King and Louis St. Laurent, administering a gently applied government brain-washing to the unsuspecting student body.

Hard at work trying to rationalize the still-mounting federal deficit and the ever-increasing national debt, he was manfully explaining that it was as difficult for a government to live as it is for an individual to live within a budget.

Then, for a case-hardened old pro, he made the astonishing mistake of asking the students what they would do in such a financial squeeze.

"Vote ourselves all $18,000 a year," piped up a voice brightly from the rear of the auditorium.

Pick had the grace to grin. "Poor old Pick must be slipping," chuckled former prime minister Diefenbaker, a much older and wiser pro, "or he wouldn't have forgotten that cardinal rule of this business of politics which is never ever ask any question from the platform unless you know what answer you're going to get."

Depending on which side of the political fence they sit, people on Parliament Hill mostly are either raving or ranting about the sudden new political best-seller, magazine writer Peter Newman's "The Diefenbaker Years" — but a few happily neutral non-partisans are laughing.

Even John Diefenbaker's worst enemies could scarcely write a book without letting some glint of humor of this always flamboyant, usually serious, but often amusing man from Lake Centre sparkle through.

There are a great many anecdotes of Diefenbaker, some of them new, — among the best this . . .

New Zealand Outlook

Little Change

By JAMES WALLACE from Auckland

TWO minority parties — Social Credit and the new Liberals — may well decide the outcome of the New Zealand general election in November 30.

With neither of the main parties — National (the present government led by Mr. Keith Holyoake) and Labor, under the leadership of former Prime Minister Mr. Arnold Nordmeyer — promising the traditional election year "handouts," it is estimated to have 7,000 to 8,000 members today. Approximately 10 per cent of them are said to be Afrikaners church ministers.

Some ministers were revealed their opposition to the Bond, but the organization has a junior organization, Die Ruitewag, which already has 900 members in the public service. The chief of the Ruitewag is Dr. Piet Meyer, head of the South African Broadcasting Corporation.

The classic case of this is the export subsidy of 8¢ cents a pound on raw U.S. cotton. What this means is that U.S. wheat Every bushel sold will cost the U.S. taxpayers 60 cents, representing the

Prowler Must Post Bond For Disturbing Peace

"If I'd known it was a cop motorcycle without the owner's consent, and impaired driving, was sentenced in city magistrate's court yesterday to five days in jail on the first charge, and 14 days each on the other two charges. The sentences will run consecutively.

Robert Davis, 146 St. Lawrence, pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace after city police Const. John Burdyny was called to 41 Ontario Street, where a woman had complained Davis was banging on her door and using obscene language.

When Const. Burdyny entered the building, he found Davis emerging from the cellar, where he said he had been looking for a friend. He made the threat, and when Const. Burdyny asked him what he was doing in the building, Davis said, "I wouldn't tell you bulls anything if I did know."

Magistrate William Ostler placed Davis on a $250 bond to keep the peace for six months when told Davis had a wife and seven children, and had been offered a job.

The case of a 15-year-old boy who pleaded guilty to theft over $30 and escaping legal custody was adjourned to Dec. 2, until he has passed his 16th birthday.

"You are clearly in need of supervision and training in an institution," said Magistrate Ostler in city magistrate's court.

He said the young offenders' unit at Oakalla would give the boy his best opportunity to straighten himself out and get the guidance he needed, but added that he could not give him an indeterminate term there until after he turned 16.

A youth who pleaded guilty to nine charges of car theft was sentenced in city magistrate's court yesterday to 10 months' definite and six months' indeterminate in the Haney Correctional Institute.

Magistrate Ostler said Robert Duff, 3225 Shelbourne, had had an unhappy life and deserved a large measure of sympathy.

"You need guidance and training," said Magistrate Ostler. "At this institution you will be trained in whatever vocation you are best suited to."

An 18-year-old youth who took a car from a downtown car lot, then drove it while impaired was fined $250 in Oak Bay magistrate's court yesterday.

Harold Williams, 3254 Rutledge, was also placed on a $250 bond to keep the peace for six months, and ordered to pay for the $150 damage he caused to the car.

Richard Jolly, 18, of 1083 Joan Crescent, who had previously pleaded guilty with Williams to taking the car, changed his plea to not guilty.

He will be tried Nov. 28.

Christ's Story Fairytale'

TORONTO (CP)—"The story of Christ is nothing but a beautiful fairytale," a University of Toronto audience was told Thursday by Dr. William Swinton, director of the Royal Ontario Museum.

"I think Christ was a failure in life. Just as most of us are, and the Resurrection and the virgin birth were merely inventions to glorify his life."

The church is a "social institution," Dr. Swinton said. "In Toronto you pick your church as carefully as your golf club."

Greek Rests

ATHENS (UPI)—Greek archaeologists are against shipping the famous statue of Hermes to the 1964 world's fair in New York. They said they will recommend against revision of export laws which would legalize the temporary exportation of the ancient Greek relic.

Raymond Bull, 20, of 3506 Shelbourne, was fined $200, and Donald Shoemaker, 22, 485 Island Highway, was fined $100.

They were found by RCMP Nov. 9 drinking in a car with two young girls.

Two men were fined a total of $300 in Colwood magistrate's court.

'Distasteful'

TV Ads Appall Expert

VANCOUVER (CP)—"There is too much distasteful advertising... being produced and forced into our homes."

An advertising man said it. He also said:

"Obviously, in the minds of most of our admirers, the average consumer is a mentally retarded robot who can be bullied or conned into turning cartwheels for the brilliant persuader at the mere crook of the persuader's little pinky."

TO AD MEN

Jerry Goods, president of a Toronto advertising company, made the statement to the Advertising and Marketing Association of Vancouver.

Of television, he said:

"The quantity of advertising to which we are sometimes subjected as gouged payment for watching what are usually not very rewarding programs is appalling."

People were being persuaded into buying through half-truths and extravagant claims.

"We have nowhere to go but up."

Three Years' Labor Camp For Moscow's 'Enticer'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Boris Yudkin, 30, a debonair bacheur left behind mutilated souls of young girls and poisoned them with cynicism and the platitudes of bourgeois ideology." It lamented that 15 of the girls taught them "how women of the West make money."

Moscow court said after the three-day trial that the sentence would have been lighter if Yudkin had shown any repentance. He had served three months preventive detention before his trial.

Although the court proceedings were secret, the news-

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Probably no football team in history has captured the imagination, and almost general support, of Canadian football fans as have the 1963 Saskatchewan Roughriders. Perhaps only in Vancouver, and there are enough ex-patriate residents there to be noticed, will Roughrider supporters be in the minority.

Not too many of them will really believe that another miracle is possible but how they will be hoping, and they'll be remembering that the Riders have already accomplished the impossible once and won't discount the possibility that they could do it again, or even twice again, between now and dusk on Saturday, Nov. 30. And who could really be sorry if the Grey Cup spent the following 12 months in Regina?

This is highly improbable but it is by no means as impossible as it looks to most to have the Riders at least in the Grey Cup final, and if they manage that, who's to say they might not find even that last win possible?

There has been a season-long tendency to under-rate the Riders, and this has been magnified by that utterly impossible comeback last Monday. But what is forgotten is that it was actually an upset that Calgary Stampeders were able to take a 26-point lead into the second game of the semi-finals.

There was little indication during the season that the Stampeders were better than the Riders, certainly no indication that there was 26 points difference.

Stampeders won big and looked unbeatable when they won but their record showed them to be in-and-outers. They were lucky in victories over Edmonton and Hamilton and should have only had one point instead of four in three games with the Riders. Take those fortunate points away from them and the Stampeders would have missed the playdowns and the Riders would have finished second.

Saskatchewan strategy in the first game was questionable to say the least. Riders went for a first down on their side of the centre strip when trailing only 0-2 and with 115 minutes of semi-final left to give up the first Calgary touchdown. They later passed up an easy field-goal chance when trailing by 10 points and again lost possession.

One would have expected the Riders to keep it close in the first game. They are extremely difficult to handle at home and there should have been little more than a mild surprise had they won the series by starting the second game no more than 10 points in arrears. Trailing by 26, they did the only thing they could do—play hard and gamble, gamble, gamble. It worked, but it would only have worked against the Stampeders. Their record shows them to be a club which seems to anticipate defeat when things don't go their way.

Riders aren't likely to find B.C. Lions losing pose as easily but I won't buy the nonsense being spread by some that the 1963 Riders may be one of the poorest-ever clubs to reach the Western final.

Look at their lineup and you see names like Neil Habib, Garner Ekstrand, Bill Clarke, Ron Atchison, Al Beneck, Jack Gotta, Bob Ptacek, Wayne Shaw, Ray Purdin, Dale West and Bill Burell. All are or have been all-star talent within the past few years.

Most of them, admittedly, are on a defensive team which has been fully recognized as one of the toughest. What is forgotten is that coach Bob Shaw pieced together a pretty fair backfield before the season ended by gradually acquiring flanker-back Hugh Campbell, fullback George Reed, halfback Ed Buchanan and quarterback Ron Lancaster to go with Purdin.

There is enough talent there to give the Lions a real run for it, or even create an upset, but I don't think it will happen although the Lions, already without Jim Carpin, lost their other starting offensive end only yesterday when Pat Claridge was injured in practice.

The Lions still have too much going for them. They have quite a club spirit of their own, they have acquired unusual poise this season, they have Joe Kapp and Willie Fleming and a half-dozen or more all-stars of their own and they get two games, if three are needed, on their home field. Most of all, they are better off physically even without regulars like Claridge, Carpin and tackle Barney Therrien and with Mike Cade just off the injured list to test his knee operation.

Riders claim that West is their only doubtful starter today but judging from the number of them on the limp in Monday's spectacular, more than a few will be held together by tape and/or kept going by novocaine, and susceptible to nerves-ending injury.

Give the Riders a chance today but even they should find it impossible to play three games in eight days after Monday's bruiser. The guess here is the Lions, in a hard struggle today and easier on Wednesday—or in three games for sure. But walkover or struggle don't believe they beat nothing.

Speaking Briefly

Larks Woo College Star Bork

MONTREAL (CP) — George Bork, a U.S. college quarterback with a sensational record, arrived here Friday to negotiate with Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Football Conference.

Bork directed Northern Illinois University Huskies to No. 1 national ranking among small colleges and set and shattered most records for passers in his own intercollegiate conference.

He is on the Alouette's negotiation list.

The 21-year-old Bork, who plans to play pro football after he graduates next spring, appeared at a press conference in the Alouette's offices.

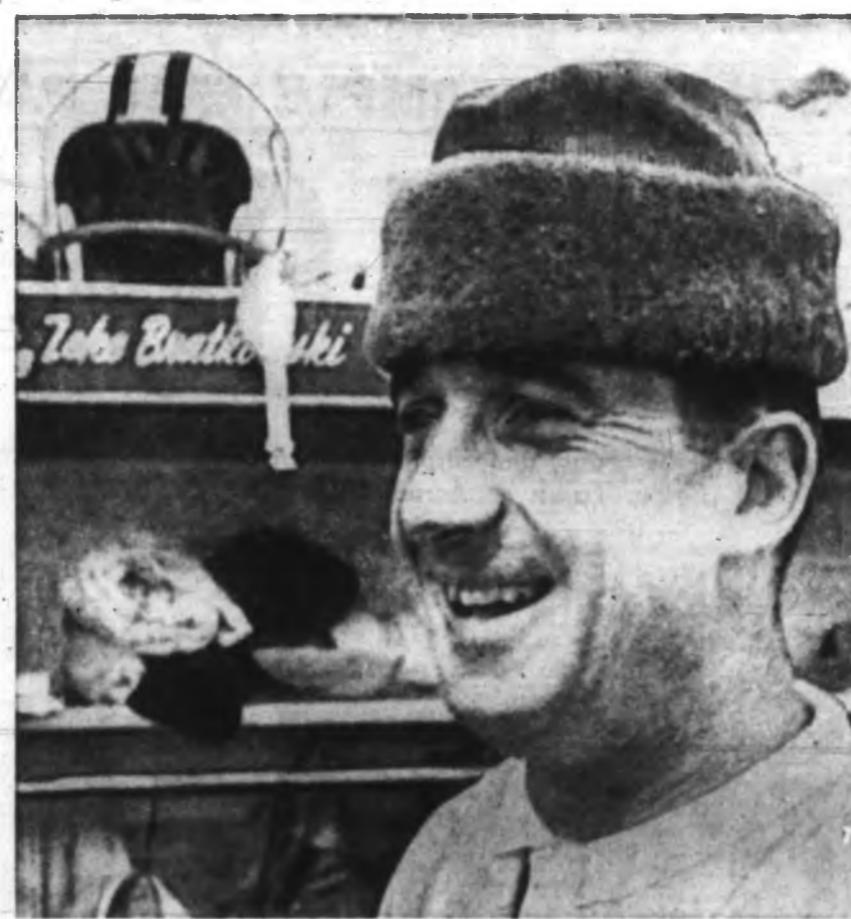

Lion Game Trip, Ticket In Package

A special package deal for fans wishing to attend Wednesday night's B.C. Lions-Saskatchewan Roughriders football game has been announced by Trans-Canada Airlines.

For $15, fans making the trip receive round-trip transportation, (leaving Victoria at 4:40 p.m. and returning at 12:30 a.m.), buffet dinner at a Vancouver hotel, bus transportation to Empire Stadium, and a seat at the game (under cover). Bus returns to the hotel, where fans have light refreshment, followed by flight home.

Space is limited and reservations will be taken on a first-come basis. Anyone having his own game ticket can deduct $2.50 from the package price.

For further information phone 7-EV 2-5141.

Newest Hat For Brat

Latest look in winterized heads is modelled by quarterback Zeke Bratkowski of Green Bay Packers, who bought hat in self defence after being traded from Los Angeles.

Packers play Chicago Bears Sunday with first place in National Football League's western division at stake.

Last night's scores: Pontiac 7, Vikings 4.

Esquimalt Pontiac Chiefs are well on their way to another Esquimalt and District Hockey League championship. They proved it again last night to 1,100 fans at the Sports Centre, striking for three goals in the fifth period to beat Victoria University Vikings, 7-4, for their third straight victory.

A delaying-the-game penalty to Vikings' Doug Bambrough paved the way for the winning goal, scored by Joe Iannarelli, and Art Green and Doug Couch got the last two.

Iannarelli finished with two goals and Walt Evans, Jim Bronson and Orv Coulter got the others for Pontiac. Ted Sarikasian, Bob Wilson, Brian Johnson and Tom Reynolds scored for Vikings.

Balding didn't come up to his Thursday 67, but shot a three-under-par 68 to give him a dominating 136. Balding broke out of a tie for the top with Mexico's Juan Neri and took a two-stroke lead. Balding was eighth under par for 72 holes.

Neri picked up his second eagle of the tournament but was only one under par at 71 over the 7,252-yard, par-72 La Hacienda course.

Bob Gads of Detroit fired a 68 for third place at 139 and Ernie Vossler and Doug Sanders of the U.S. were tied for fourth at 140.

THE Arnold PALMER METHOD

TIPS ON SAND-SHOOTING

In golf, a player can expect to encounter a variety of sand conditions which he must take into consideration. Here are some sand-shooting tips:

If, for example, the sand is coarse and/or wet (#1), you'll have to beware of great resistance to the club. To avoid having your distance cut down, rely on a firm grip.

A firm stroke and a full follow-through. In powdery, dry sand (#2), it logically follows that you'll need less force in your swing since the clubhead can penetrate deeper into it.

In shallow sand (#3), avoid deep clubhead penetration by laying back the clubface more than normal when you address the ball.

Manufactures Clubs

Palmer in Business

LATROBE, Pa. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the recognized king of golf, officially entered the golf manufacturing field Friday in a move that will probably curtail his tournament activity.

Palmer, just back from Australia where he won the Australian Masters Championship, presented his father, M. J. (Duke) Palmer, with the first set of golf clubs produced by the Arnold Palmer Company.

The elder Palmer is a golf pro in this western Pennsylvania community where Arnold still makes his home.

"We were officially in business as of today," said Palmer, believed to be the first pro golfer since Ben Hogan to set up his own manufacturing company.

"I'm the president of the company and I plan to take a truly active part in the operation."

"I will probably not be playing in tournaments as much as in the past years. But I have been cutting down for some time anyway so this won't be exactly new. I still plan to participate in all the major tournaments."

A film, the ABC Story, will be shown and preliminary work on the city tenpin tournaments discussed.

BOSTON (AP)—A prominent Boston physician says the old belief that high school and college football produces better men is a lot of poppycock.

Dr. Frank P. Foster said a student would be better prepared as an adult to think under pressure and keep his temper if he were taught fishing, golfing and bowing instead of contact sports.

CAN'T BE TRAINED

"The real purpose of a fitness program is to deliver a physically fit boy into adult life, not a boy with crippled knees, damaged joints and various bone and nerve injuries."

He added: "A man needs muscle enough to shake hands, a head hard enough to take a martini with a business lunch, a digestive tract that will take anything anywhere, and a system that can go without sleep."

"A young man can't be trained for this under present programs."

Foster said such sports as tennis, chess, sailing and fencing develop the ability to think under pressure.

He also urged young men to pick sports with business uses, such as golf and squash, and those that fit in with family and recreational activities, like skiing, skating, table tennis and hiking.

Appeal Near 90 Per Cent Of Quota

With only six more days left for the Greater Victoria United Appeal, the fund is just $33,000 short of the $400,000 goal.

Yesterday's collections brought the total to $346,180 —88.7 per cent of the total.

The residential canvassers, who have already reached 80 per cent of their quota, are still making the rounds in Greater Victoria.

The appeal ends Nov. 22.

Decorations

Yuletide 'Pact'

Violated

The Christmas in December Committee has accused major Victoria retailers of violating an agreement to hold back Christmas decorations in stores until today.

In a letter to small business firms, R. G. MacDonald, chairman of the Retail Merchants Group, urged firms to follow the example of the larger stores by not decorating for Christmas until today.

SEVERAL DAYS

But, says Mrs. H. D. Radford, chairman of the committee, the big stores have had their decorations in place for several days.

The retail association also suggested:

• Santa Claus should "arrive" Nov. 23.

• Street decorations should not be put up before Nov. 28.

• Carols should not be played in stores before Dec. 2.

• BLATANT DISREGARD

In a letter to the retail group, Mrs. Radford expressed her committee's appreciation for the effort in delaying Christmas promotions but criticized the "blatant disregard" of the larger stores for the agreement.

Woman Stricken While Shopping

A woman who was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital after collapsing in a downtown department store was pronounced dead on arrival Thursday.

Jack Phillion and Frank Stevenson Check Drive

Club Winds Up Era

By C. B. FISHER

Members of Victoria's Pacific Club said goodbye last night to their home of the past 53 years with a rousing "farewell" which didn't die away until the early hours of this morning.

There was nostalgia in the talk of every one of the 200 members who were at the "blastoff party" but none felt it more than Frank Stevenson, only remaining member of the 33 who in 1909 bought life memberships for $250 to aid the club to move into the top floor of the Yarrow Building where it was relocated after fire destroyed its original quarters.

"This is a sad night, in a way," he said, "but we're looking forward to a happy one February 15," referring to the scheduled opening of the new building on Wharf Street.

It was only last year that

Quarters Bade Farewell

friendly atmosphere of the old days."

Jack Phillion, president and prime mover in the change of quarters, said he thought the Yarrow Building facilities excellent but "any successful men's club should not rent, but own its own building."

"All of my friends have gone," said Mr. Stevenson, "but there's still the same women were admitted to membership in the club and they had their farewell party last week.

The staff will have its farewell party with members acting as hosts and waiters.

Many game trophies will be moved to the new club and placed in suitable locations but locations haven't been found for the old photographs of scenes and industry in the early days of Vancouver Island.

They are great conversation pieces and 10 years ago, when the club undertook renovations and replaced the old photos with new bright pictures, there were so many objections raised that the historic places were returned to their places of honor.

Roundabout Intersection

New Traffic Plan Tested

Acting Mayor Millard Mooney, after inspecting a mockup of the new roundabout intersection yesterday, said he is convinced that the electronically controlled signal system will meet all requirements.

A model of the intersection has been built at the city public works yard on Garibaldi Road and ordinary household light bulbs have been connected to the electronic "brain" that is to measure flow of traffic into the intersection.

Over a period of dozens of hours during the past month, the controller has been put through its paces to determine timing of signals.

By means of the mock-up, traffic engineer Kenneth Reid said yesterday, several problems that cropped up have been solved before the system is installed.

Present indications are that the system, after some initial adjustment on site, will function smoothly and efficiently. Timing of signals will vary with traffic flow.

Ald. Mooney said one major area of concern—the possibility of tube failure or some other small mechanical fault in the controller which would put the signals out of commission—has been overcome.

This has been achieved by means of an ordinary fixed-time control device which can be plugged in and used in an emergency. The piece of equipment was devised and built by city technician Albert Yule.

"One of my worries these past few weeks has been what would happen if the electronic controller failed," said Ald. Mooney. "We have been assured that this new equipment is proven efficient, but like any complex piece of electronic equipment it is subject to normal failure of parts like a tube."

The acting mayor said: "Now, thanks to Mr. Yule, we have a standby unit that will keep traffic moving if this happens."

City crews next week will install brackets and permanent signal lights at the intersection. The electronic controller will be placed on a concrete pedestal at the northeast corner of Hillsdale

and Douglas. It should be ready for operation in about two weeks.

A possible cause of delay, officials said, is continued rain which will make it impossible to paint lanes and crosswalks on the intersection.

Second Carpark Levy Not Slated This Year

Capitol Idea Checked Out

Tale of Two Roofs

A man approached the engineer at the Capitol Theatre recently to say he'd been working on the roof of the neighbouring YMCA and noticed the Capitol's roof also needed repairs.

The engineer referred him to theatre manager Alex Reid, the Vancouver Island Better Business Bureau reports.

Mr. Reid told the man he leaves these matters to the engineer.

The man returned to the engineer and told him Mr. Reid had authorized the repair. He spent about a half-hour on the roof, then came down and asked $16.50 in cash.

Mr. Reid told him he'd pay by cheque and the man gave an address which turned out to be phony.

The engineer checked the roof, and could not see any signs of work having been done. Mr. Reid checked at the YMCA and was told they had indeed been approached by the man.

To Meet Cost

This, it had been thought, would require another levy of one or 1 1/4 mills in the next few weeks to meet the full cost of operating the carparks on View Street and at Yates and Langley.

City hall officials however, were advised that the deficit can be covered by a levy at budget time next year.

To Underwrite Cost

Last spring the property owners voted to underwrite the operations of the two downtown carpark buildings. The 1963 budget was set at $14,000 including debt charges which with interest credits, for this year only, total $33,000.

Property owners were taxed 4 1/2 mills to raise some $48,000, which was expected to cover losses on the first year's operation.

Next year, it is estimated, the budget will be higher, probably about $125,000 and full debt charges amounting to $95,000 will have to be paid.

Only Six Months

The difference is mainly due to the fact that the second carpark, at Yates and Langley, this year will have operated for only six months.

At present there is no means of even hazarding a guess at what the assessment against property owners will be in 1964. It looks as though the year will start with at least one mill backlog.

But the members of the downtown parking commission taking an optimistic view of things, bolstered by receipts which show a steady rise each month since the first carpark building opened a year ago in December.

Record $4,000

Despite expectations that July and August would be the busiest months, the two facilities brought in a record $6,000 in revenue during October.

This record should fall during the Christmas season. This week on a downtown sale day, for the first time, both carparks were full, indicating that November will probably exceed the 17,000 cars that used the facilities last month.

Parking commission chairman Ira Hill earlier predicted that 20,000 cars would use the facilities this month.

Traffic Speedup Oak Bay Plan

A move to speed up traffic at a key intersection in Oak Bay has been approved by the traffic and transportation committee.

It was recommended to the committee that through lanes be marked on Foul Bay Road, south side of Oak Bay Avenue at Newport, to allow clear access to Prospect Place.

Bureau Better Off Than Anticipated

Hunters Fined

Three hunters were fined $25 each in Colwood magistrate's court yesterday.

Robert George Holmes, 31, Regina, and George Johnson, 731 Greenlea, were each fined for having insecure game tags.

Stanley Leonard Johnson, 140 Bay, was fined for having a loaded rifle in a motor vehicle.

Role of Women To Be Discussed

Mrs. E. Davis Fulton, wife of the provincial Progressive Conservative leader, arrived from Kamloops last evening to attend the luncheon and quarterly meeting of the Women's Progressive Conservative association, to be held at the Empress Hotel today, with luncheon beginning at 1 p.m. Mr. Fulton will be guest speaker at the meeting. High-light of the afternoon will be a panel discussion on "The Role of Women in Politics." Panel members will be Miss Patricia Wildman and Mrs. E. B. Strongtharm of Nanaimo; Miss Thomas Leah Whonnock, B.C.; Miss Lyn Morrow, Burnaby-Coquitlam, and Miss B. Clark, Dewdney.

It's impossible to tell who these fellows are or what kind of homes they come from. Polly has a date every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night with somebody or other. The Lord alone knows who they are.

I told my daughter from now on she can't go out with anybody until I know what his father does, and something of his family's reputation. Furthermore, I want to see some pictures of his home.

Polly says I am unreasonable. Am I? How else can a father keep tab on his daughter's companions when they pop up out of nowhere and they all look alike? —CHOOZY AND PROUD OF IT.

Dear Choosy and Proud: Why don't you just tell your daughter she can't go out with a fellow unless he brings over his old man's financial statement? This is what your demands add up to.

The air force has all sorts of young men — which should be no surprise to anyone who has lived in the world for awhile. You can tell a great deal more about a person by listening to him speak for 15 minutes than by looking at a picture of his house.

Dear Ann: This family next door has three children, but the 14-year-old girl is the one I'm writing about. She could pass for 20 any day.

The sorrow of my life is that we never had any children. My husband has sort of adopted

Theatre Studio Scores Hit With Comedy

By BERT BINNY

Nikolai Gogol wrote The Inspector General 127 years ago.

It has been performed off and on ever since and the process continued last night in Victoria with the opening production by the Theatre Studio.

REMARKABLE

This longevity is the more remarkable because The Inspector General is a roaring comedy, and comedy is usually shortlived. So often it depends on topicality or locality or both.

But The Inspector General has hit on humor that is universal and apparently timeless. The preconditions of small-time officialdom are as prevalent now as 127 years ago and, indeed, as old as officialdom itself.

WINE CHOICE

Thus the Theatre Studio wisely starts out with a first-class vehicle for its talents.

And it makes a great job of it all the way from Wayne Fines as the pseudo inspector general, through Richard Litt as the mayor and Anna Wootton as his wife, on to the small, bit part of the maid at the hotel played by Jill Peters. Here is a well-trained and skillful cast throughout.

LUSTY, SINCERE

Everything seems lusty and sincere; there may be occasions when it is a trifle overpowering. This is due to the fact that the action takes place so very close to the audience and at the same level.

Perhaps, also, Mr. Fines should keep a slightly tighter

Peter Lovric

Accountant Seeking Oak Bay Post

Public accountant Peter Lovric yesterday said he will seek a post on Oak Bay council in the December election.

Mr. Lovric, 3273 Henderson, is a Second World War veteran who has lived and worked in Oak Bay since his retirement from the navy in 1961.

He said last night he favors keeping down the cost of municipal government by sound business practices.

SECOND LOOK

He said he sees no good reason for amalgamation of Greater Victoria but, as with other subjects, he is always willing to take a second look.

Mr. Lovric said he is seeking the one-year term left by Coun. J. D. Watts, who is resigning to run against Coun. Alan Cox for reeve.

Lawyer Ian Horne, 3550 Beach Drive, who is law clerk of the B.C. legislature, said he expects to make a firm decision soon on whether to run for council.

rein on the speed at which he speaks. When he gets worked up—as he does quite frequently—his words are very hard to distinguish.

TOP PRODUCTION

It may be old-fashioned to think that the production would have been improved by more and better scenery and greater aesthetic distance; the fact remains that even without these it is a first-class production.

The Inspector General goes on again this evening at 8:30 and, thereafter, every Friday and Saturday evening at the same time.

'Murder for Hire'

Two Refused $2,000

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — A bulldog-built former convict testified yesterday that the alleged middleman in a "murder for hire" plot asked two men if they would commit murder for $2,000 and that both turned him down.

Short, squat Sheldon Morris, 34, told a district court jury that Norman Mastrian, 29, asked first Richard Sharp and then Willard Ingeman if they were interested in making "a small hit"—underworld slang for an assassination.

IT'S A WOMAN

"It's out of the city (Minneapolis) and it's a woman," Morris quoted Mastrian.

Morris testified in a hushed courtroom in the trial of attorney T. Eugene Thompson on first degree murder charges.

The prosecution is trying to prove that Thompson master-minded a plot to kill his wife, Carol, 34, so he could collect more than $1,000,000 insurance on her and take up a new life with a pretty secretary he had romanced. Mrs. Jackie Olesen.

Prosecutor William B. Randall had identified Mastrian as the middle man in the alleged plot. He charged Mastrian eventually hired W. C. (Dick) Anderson to do the job for Thompson and that Anderson stabbed and bludgeoned Mrs.

This was the fear expressed by Gordon Wright, executive director of Victoria's Family and Children's Service, who is seeking to dispel some of the fallacies people have regarding adoption qualifications.

SHORTAGE NOW

Long ago Vancouver found itself with a shortage of would-be parents. The provincial service now is in a similar position.

The Victoria service, which is independent of city and province and serves only the city, hasn't yet started to feel the pinch, but it is coming, Mr. Wright fears.

Victoria is growing and with the growth is a proportionate increase in the number of children needing homes.

WAITING LIST DOWN

"We have always had a waiting list of parents before, sometimes as high as 50 or 60. We are now down to a dozen or so. Placement is difficult. Some are waiting for boys, some want girls," she said.

Children of unwed mothers require homes, so do children of mixed parentage.

MANY COME HERE

Most of Victoria's unmarried mothers leave town to have their children but the number of unmarried mothers coming into Victoria, for the same purpose from other parts of the province is greater, the Colonist was told.

"We want to find out if there is a potential of parents here," said Mr. Wright. "We feel there is but that there are a good

Landscaped Area

Controversial Garage Different in Oak Bay

The controversial gas station proposed for the intersection of Henderson and Cedar Hill Cross Road will have a completely different look from the usual stations, Oak Bay zoning development and planning committee was told Thursday night.

The building will be small, with a shake roof, the area around will be landscaped, said Coun. J. D. Watts, committee chairman.

SEA MISSING

"There will not be the typical approach where there is a sea of asphalt, or sometimes a sea of asphalt and mud," he said.

The sign advertising the station would also be in keeping with the design. It would be set on rustic poles in a planter resembling signs designed by the provincial parks department, Coun. Watts said.

STEPS TAKEN

He said that, despite the acrimony about construction, Oak Bay did take steps to see the gas station would not be detrimental to the area.

He said the steps were taken to protect the area because it was residential. They had been drawn up before the university was there.

"There have been a lot of erroneous statements made about this," he said.

Colorful All Winter

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I think my favorite heather at this season of the year is the dwarf Calluna hibernica, which blooms from early November until after Christmas in our garden. When this one is planted in conjunction with Calluna hyemalis, you can have a constant succession of color in the garden all through the darkest days of winter, for hyemalis is at its best just after the turn of the year.

Hibernica is a real dwarf—about six inches tall—but very prolific. The whole of the tiny bush becomes studded with bright lilac-colored sprays of bloom. Hyemalis, with rose-mauve blooms, is a bit taller and the blossom sprays are tough enough to withstand any kind of weather, even as much as 10 degrees of frost.

given cool storage to hold them back and prevent premature sprouting.

It is interesting to note that some of the tree heaths are cultivated in France for their gnarled and knotted roots, which are used for the manufacture of briar pipes. Some good forms of the tree heath are Erica arborea, the Spanish Heath, five feet high and with bright rose-crimson blossoms borne from April to June; Erica lusitanica, the Portuguese Heath, six to 10 feet, with white blossoms from February to May, and somewhat hardier than its Spanish cousin.

Erica arborea is the tallest and nobles of the heath family, often growing 12 feet tall or more, and blossoms in spring.

Always plant the heathers very firmly, working plenty of peat moss into the soil. To keep your plants compact and shapely, the flowered ends should be cut back fairly hard as soon as blossoming ceases.

In my mail lately I have noticed some confusion on the part of home gardeners regarding the proper storage of houseplant bulbs during their period of dormancy. Because gladiolus, dahlia and begonia bulbs are given cool storage to hold them back and prevent premature sprouting a lot of folks are jumping to the conclusion that the houseplant bulbs should also be stored under low temperatures.

This is all wrong, and I suspect that quite a lot of trouble with gloxinias in particular arises from the chilling of the bulbs in storage.

These bulbs are tropical subjects and require about the same range of temperatures when dormant as they would enjoy in their native lands. Gloxinias and gesnerias should be stored at 55 to 60 degrees—ordinary room temperature will do—while achimenes and the yellow cala prefer it just a trifle cooler, around 50 degrees.

A common cause of excess shriveling is drying off the plant too abruptly when flowering ceases, or cutting down the top growth while it is still green. The drying off process should be gradual, by increasing the intervals between watering, and the tops should not be cut down until dead and dry. The easiest way to store these bulbs—and the safest—is to leave them in their pots of soil until it is time to shake them out and report them.

Personality Cult Alarms JOHN CROSBY

Play Ball, Keep Power

LONDON — Harold Wilson, in an uncharacteristic flurry of sporting metaphor, said at the opening of parliament, "We intend to play the ball and not the man," meaning the Labor Party will aim its shafts at the policies, not the personality, of Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the new prime minister.

It's a good thought, though highly unlikely. Theoretically, the British don't fight their elections out on personality. It's the program that goes to the country, not the man. Theoretically, the U.S. doesn't play the man, either. Actually, the British and the Americans have been playing the cult of personality just as ferociously as the Russians have.

In 12 years under the Tories, the House of Commons has succeeded largely in undoing a lot of things—denationalizing steel, getting rid of wartime rationing and so forth. Many of these things needed doing, but one can't avoid the impression that this is an anti-program rather than a program: it is strikingly negative.

Not for nothing has the 88th Congress been called the "greatest do-nothing Congress in a generation." Only three major bills have been enacted into law after seven months. Of 38 per cent of the president's legislative program, it has taken no action at all. I can think of little important social legislation that has got through Congress since the New Deal 30 years ago.

In Paris the French Assembly building has been newly washed, and provides a mighty handsome addition to the vista of the Place de la Concorde. If it has any other purpose, nobody knows what it is. De Gaulle runs things in France without even telling his wife, much less the assembly, what he's going to do next.

"Over the past 50 years, the members of the Commons have been aware of their powers mysteriously oozing away," writes Anthony Sampson. "In all European countries, the complaint has been the same. In Britain, the realization of the decline of parliamentary power has been particularly painful and disturbing."

The real rulers of Britain are in the ministries, which go their own way no matter what debate is raging in the Commons. And in America the CIA and the Pentagon can reach decisions, spend money, change policy without anyone's even hearing about it, much less debating it. This is in the age of managers, not parliamentarians.

We joke about Russia's Supreme Soviet, as a rubber stamp body with no powers. But actually it is generation—some say as little as 10 years—the Supreme Soviet. Congress, the French Assembly and the Commons might not be far from equal in power, usefulness and democracy.

One thing that has led to this curious and deplorable decline in parliamentary power is the practice of playing the man, not the ball, or the cult of personality. One reason for this, I think, is that life and high policy are too complicated for the voter. He doesn't want to decide policies or even to think about them. He'd like to dump the whole agonizing mess into the laps of de Gaulle or Kennedy or Khrushchev or Sir Alec.

It's a good thought that Harold Wilson will play the ball, not the man, but he'll be about the only one who does it.

How Can Bible Fail?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Columbia has dropped out of The Bible, the $30,000 Dino de Laurentiis project. Columbia was investing $15,000,000. Studios are getting leery of putting out this kind of money. But the Bible. How can the Bible fail?

The new picture for George Maharis, The Satan Bug, shows what two teaspoonsful of deadly germs can do to the whole world. They can obliterate it, that's what. And this is no fantasy. Nearly every country is working on perfecting these deadly destroyers. You know, I sometimes wonder about us humans.

Charlie Chaplin's dancing daughter Geraldine has joined a top ballet company in Paris. It is sponsored by the ballet-minded best dressed Vicomtesse Jacqueline de Ribes.

Peter Sellers insists there is no romance with 19-year-old Lillian Kain, the American girl who met him when he arrived in London recently. They held hands at the airport and looked lovelorn dovey. "A diversion tactic," said Peter, whose real romance was flying in from the continent at the same time. That's pretty smart.

In spite of all that stuff about entertaining a gangster in Nevada, the talk in Hollywood is that Frank Sinatra will again be asked to MC the Oscar awards next spring. I thought Frankie was okay last year, but I missed Bob Hope.

Prediction: Tom Tryon will be a big star after The Cardinal gets to the public. He has the same kind of virility that Gable had and Gary Cooper. We can use some more of this on the screen today.

Worst Hurricanes

Death Toll Near 7,000

Trail of Death Frozen at Last

By CHARLES S. ALDINGER

MAIMI (UPI) — Cold air poured into the Caribbean Friday, ending the deadliest Atlantic hurricane season in history.

Gordon Dunn, chief U.S. hurricane forecaster, issued a summary report on 1963's eight tropical storms—seven of them hurricanes. His toll to date—estimated conservatively—is 6,911 dead and $491,571,000 damage.

The deadliest hurricane was Flora. Surpassing the 1960 Galveston hurricane, Flora went on a nine-day rampage Sept. 30-Oct. 8 through the Caribbean that left a total of at least 6,911 dead and $355,000,000 damage.

In recounting the "Incomplete" toll, Dunn labelled Flora, an historic hurricane, the most deadly tropical cyclone ever to occur in the Atlantic area.

Following the track of Flora's island destruction, Dunn gave this breakdown of his estimates: To hag. 17 killed;

$30,000,000 damage; Trinidad,

$100,000 damage; Granada, six dead, $24,000 damage; Haiti,

$800 dead, $85,000,000 damage;

Dominican Republic, six dead,

$70,000 damage; Cuba, 1,730

dead, $300,000,000 damage; Jamaica, 11 dead, $12,000,000 damage; Bahamas Islands, $25,000 damage; Florida, one swimmer drowned.

Remote areas of Haiti and the Dominican Republic still are unheard from, the hurricane expert said, and "there are a considerable number of small boats missing in the Caribbean, with two to seven or more crewmen and passengers aboard each."

The terror tempest dumped as much as 50 inches of rain in less than 24 hours on Haiti, a total of 50-60 inches on the interior of eastern Cuba and more than 60 inches at one point in Jamaica.

One radio report from Cuba said 90 inches of total rainfall 180 to 200 miles an hour in the town of Bayamo.

Winds of hurricane force of 75. Hurricane Flora was the most erratic of the season as it slowly twirled and looped up and down the Atlantic seaboard for 10 days close to shore without ever hitting the U.S.

The storm brought beneficial rains to the east coast.

Hurricane Arlene caused $300,000 in damage at Bermuda Aug. 9. Beulah remained at sea and gave weather forecasters a chance to seed its wind clouds with silver iodide smoke. Effects of the Storm Fury project, aimed at finding means of curbing the power of hurricanes, still are being evaluated.

Hurricane Cindy spawned in the Gulf of Mexico and brought heavy rains to the Texas and Louisiana coasts. Doria caused no damage.

Hurricane Edith killed 10 people and caused $40,000,000 damage on the island of Martinique. It also damaged the islands of Dominica, St. Lucia and Barbados.

Helena was the last of the season and never reached hurricane force. But it killed five people on the island of Guadeloupe Oct. 27.

AFL-CIO Told

Canadian Labor Must Keep Rights — Morris

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian labor movement believes it must retain its right to make decisions concerning its own national affairs, Executive Vice-President Joe Morris of the Canadian Labor Congress told the AFL-CIO convention here Friday.

Referring to differences which have brought attacks by certain segments of the AFL-CIO against the CLC and its officers for their position in the Great Lakes labor dispute and the Canadian government's maritime union trusteeship, the former Vancouver Island IWA official said:

"We must . . . retain the power to make decisions—right or wrong—which affect us and the welfare and progress of those we represent."

FOR MAJORITY

"I am confident that I speak for the vast majority of trade unionists in our country and for the Canadian people generally, when I emphasize that the leadership of the Canadian labor movement has given in this matter has been based firmly upon our intention of preserving the right to determine our own affairs."

Grey Cup Rush 'Amazes' Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grey Cup city, 1963, is going to be one crowded place.

Roy Corbett, managing director for the B.C. Hotels Association, said Friday the accommodation picture is "real tight downtown" and it's getting that way in the suburbs.

"All the good rooms for Grey Cup week are pretty well booked in the downtown area," he said. "Now we're checking for cancellations but very few cancellations are coming in."

If had been thought that when Calgary bowed out of the Western Football Conference final the hotels would be flooded with cancellation notices from disillusioned Calgarians.

"There have been no cancellations coming through. I'm utterly amazed. Maybe it's because their plans were so far advanced they're planning to come anyway."

Mr. Corbett said "the situation was tight in 1960" — the last time the East-West foot-

Young Liberals Told

Another Election Near

MONTREAL (UPI) — Keith Davey, national organizer and executive director of the Liberal Party, told a convention of Young Liberals Friday that another general election may be in the offing.

The election would be necessary, he said, because of two factors: Conservative stalling tactics and the need for a majority government in Ottawa.

Davey told the Young Liberal Federation that a national election is one thing the country doesn't need.

The people are tired of elections," he said. "The press is tired of elections and the politicians are tired of elections.

"But," he continued, "I would also like to suggest that the people also are tired of endless votes of confidence and of the tactics of obstruction and delay.

"This situation," he said, "may soon require a general election."

Davey said his opinions were his own and not those of Prime Minister Pearson or of the National Liberal Federation.

Final Pay Offer

TEACHERS ACCEPT

Final salary offer representing an overall increase of just above two per cent, made by trustees of the Greater Victoria school district Thursday night, was accepted by the teachers' negotiation committee at 5 p.m. yesterday.

In 1962 teachers asked for increases of 12 per cent and settled for 4.07 per cent.

The teachers, who were seeking salaries increase between five and eight per cent, continued to meet the trustees even though conciliators had been appointed.

LONGER TIME

Usual procedure of the salary meetings had been to talk from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., but Thursday the discussions went on until 1 a.m. Friday, with the board's final offer rejected.

At 11 a.m. yesterday the teachers' negotiators informed the board they had taken a second look at the offer and would present it to the committee at 4 p.m.

An hour later they informed the board the committee had agreed to take the offer to the association, a move tantamount to acceptance.

Book Links Goldwater With Hoods

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — The Las Vegas Review-Journal said Friday a book to be published Dec. 13 tells of Sen. Barry Goldwater's friendship with two big-time hoodlums who have been murdered.

The book about Las Vegas gambling is entitled The Green Felt Jungle and is to be published by the Trident Press of New York. Its authors are Ed Reid and Ovid Demaris. Reid won a Pulitzer Prize in 1951 for helping expose a $20,000,000 gambling empire in New York.

According to a front-page story in the Las Vegas newspaper, the book charges that gambling in Las Vegas is controlled by organized crime syndicates.

It was quoted as saying that Goldwater was a friend for many years of Gus Greenbaum, manager of the Riviera Casino, and Willie Biloff, a convicted extortionist. Both maintained homes in Phoenix, Ariz., Goldwater's home town.

NO AFFECT

At a press conference in Pittsburgh, Pa., last night, Sen. Goldwater said the allegations in the book "wouldn't have any effect on a presidential campaign" if he decides to seek the Republican nomination. "It's trash and the American people won't want to have anything to do with it. In fact, it might even be libelous. We're looking into that."

(Goldwater also said that he had known Greenbaum when Greenbaum ran a grocery in Phoenix before going to Las Vegas.)

OFTEN SEEN TOGETHER

The Las Vegas Review-Journal quoted the book as saying: "In 1955 Biloff found an even more unlikely friend: the junior senator from Arizona, Barry Goldwater. The two men were often seen together and Goldwater . . . personally chauffeured Biloff in his private plane all over the southwest to attend various parties."

"When questioned by reporters, Goldwater became indignant, protesting that he had no idea that his friend, one William Nelson, was the notorious Willie Biloff."

"Later the senator changed his story. Biloff, he said, was helping him in his study of American labor, giving him a special insight into union racketeering. To this day, Goldwater is still pleading that he did not know Nelson was Biloff . . ."

VANCOUVER (CP) — Smile as you tear down that Grey Cup goalpost — you may be on camera.

Deputy Chief Gordon Ambrose of the Vancouver police said Friday his men will use both movie and still cameras on Nov. 30 to record crowd scenes at the Grey Cup football game.

"There are several reasons," he said. "One is to give us a record in case any criticism of crowd handling is made afterward."

In 1960, the last time the game was played here, there was some discussion of crowd control. The crowd took over the field and stole the game ball, causing league officials to call off the contest before the last few seconds were over.

"The film we took at the 1960 game show we were getting the crowd clear of the playing area when the match was called off," the police officer said. "If football officials had agreed to our request for another couple of minutes, the game could have been restarted and finished normally."

The Calgary contingent is the one most catered to by the people who sell food and service to visitors. Traditionally the Alberta crew is the gang which paints the town red, white and blue, and their patronage is worth an estimated $1,000,000 in business to Vancouver during Grey Cup week.

Mr. Corbett said his association had begun referring reservations to "good, outlying hotels" — and even some of the better-class motels.

"The rent-a-car people report very heavy bookings." One hotel announced Friday that should Saskatchewan Roughriders win the WFC final against Lions, all Saskatchewan persons resident in the hotel for the deciding game or games would receive their accommodation free.

Roundabout Intersection

New Traffic Plan Tested

Acting Mayor Millard Mooney, after inspecting a mockup of the new roundabout intersection yesterday, said he is convinced that the electronically controlled signal system will meet all requirements.

A model of the intersection has been built at the city public works yard on Garibaldi Road and ordinary household light bulbs have been connected to the electronic "brain" that is to measure flow of traffic into the intersection.

Over a period of dozens of hours during the past month, the controller has been put through its paces to determine timing of signals.

By means of the mock-up, traffic engineer Kenneth Reid said yesterday, several problems that cropped up have been solved before the system is installed.

Present indications are that the system, after some initial adjustment on site, will function smoothly and efficiently. Timing of signals will vary with traffic flow.

Acting Mayor Millard Mooney said one major area of concern—the possibility of bulb failure or some other small mechanical fault in the controller which would put the signals out of commission—has been overcome.

This has been achieved by means of an ordinary fixed-time control device which can be plugged in and used in an emergency. The piece of equipment was devised and built by city technician Albert Yule.

"One of my worries these past few weeks has been what would happen if the electronic controller failed," said Ald. Mooney. "We have been assured that this new equipment is proven efficient, but like any complex piece of electronic equipment, it is subject to normal failure of parts like a tube."

The acting mayor said: "Now, thanks to Mr. Yule, we have a standby unit that will keep traffic moving if this happens."

City crews next week will install brackets and permanent signal lights at the intersection. The electronic controller will be placed on a concrete pedestal at the northeast corner of Hillside and Douglas. It should be ready for operation in about two weeks.

A possible cause of delay, officials said, is continued rain which will make it impossible to paint lanes and crosswalks on the intersection.

Fire Chief Arrested
On Forgery Charges

NANAIMO—Lantzville Fire Chief John Ryan left yesterday under police escort for Peterborough, Ont., where he faces 19 charges of forgery and theft.

Five of the charges arose from the theft of B.C. Ferry Authority cheques from the Nanaimo office. One of the cheques was cashed in Nanaimo and four others in Victoria.

Ryan, 34, is a civil defence official and "teen town" group leader in Nanaimo and was formerly employed by the B.C. Ferry Authority in Nanaimo.

CHEQUE PROBE

He was charged as a result of investigation into the passing of nearly $3,300 in worthless cheques in Peterborough in October.

Nanaimo RCMP escorted Ryan to Patricia Bay airport Friday morning when he was turned over to Peterborough police.

ENGINEERING OFFICE

The cheques ranged in value from $19 to $289 and were passed by a man in Peterborough who rented an office, furniture and equipment in the name of Shaw Engineering, and opened a bank account with a $600 deposit.

FOUND NOTE

When police checked the office later they found a note taped to the door which read: "Owing to a death in the Shaw family, this office will be closed until Oct. 10."

LICENCE RECORDED

Police laid the charge against Ryan after a woman who cashed one of the cheques recorded the licence number on the car the man drove. Owner of the car was traced through the B.C. motor vehicles branch.

CANCER VICTIM

He was on his way to attend the funeral in Victoria yesterday of John Merriman, 29, a popular golfer who died of cancer Wednesday.

Mr. O'Neill's parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. J. O'Neill of 576 St. Patrick in Oak Bay, and Mr. Merriman's widow is one of Mr. O'Neill's four sisters. Six brothers also survive.

TANK CORPS

Mr. O'Neill was born in Alberta and raised and educated in Halifax, where he graduated after the Second World War in which he served overseas in the army's tank corps.

He came to B.C. after his graduation.

His widow Gertrude, five children aged six months to 12 years and his twin brother Dr. John O'Neill survive in Kelowna.

SURVIVORS

Other brothers and sisters surviving include Mrs. Merriman, Mrs. Stuart (Sheila) Mitchell, Mrs. Frank (Betty) Obee, Raymond O'Neill, CPO Keith O'Neill, Edward O'Neill and PO Frank O'Neill, all of Victoria, and Terry O'Neill of New York and Mrs. Louis Simonetta of Trail.

Several aunts and uncles also survive.

Mr. O'Neill's funeral is expected to be in Kelowna Monday. Details have not been arranged.

Six Job Offers
For Hawkins

Six "rather interesting" job offers have been made to William Hawkins, whose resignation as Victoria Visitors Bureau commissioner takes effect Nov. 20, he says.

He said, however, that he does not want to consider his future career until after he has had a rest and holiday from his bureau job.

He said he plans a vacation in Mexico.

DUNCAN—The conciliators at a meeting recently between the salary committee of the Cowichan School Board and the agreement committee of the Cowichan District Teachers' Association were unable to assist either party in arriving at a salary scale for 1964. The matter will now go to arbitration.

Bill Duyvewaard, spokesman for the teachers said: "The zonal proposed scale was rejected by teachers here as it does not reflect the growth in economy of British Columbia which has a marked bearing on teacher's salaries."

Spokesman for the school board, Trustee Wilf Peck had this to say: "We regret it is necessary to go to arbitration because the board feels it has offered an agreement for 1964, that is equal to or better than settlements made in surrounding districts."

Yuletide
'Pact'
Violated

The Christmas in December Committee has accused major Victoria retailers of violating an agreement to hold back Christmas decorations in stores until today.

In a letter to small business firms, R. G. MacDonald, chairman of the Retail Merchants Group, urged firms to follow the example of the larger stores by not decorating for Christmas until today.

NEVERAL DAYS

But, says Mrs. H. D. Radford, chairman of the committee, the big stores have had their decorations in place for several days.

The retail association also suggested:

• Santa Claus should "arrive" Nov. 23.

• Street decorations should not be put up before Nov. 28.

• Santa should not be played in stores before Dec. 2.

BLATANT DISREGARD

In a letter to the retail group, Mrs. Radford expressed her committee's appreciation for the effort in delaying Christmas promotions but criticized the "blatant disregard" of the larger stores for the agreement.

Club Winds Up Era

By C. B. FISHER

Members of Victoria's Pacific Club said goodbye last night to their home of the past 33 years with a rousing "farewell" which didn't die away until the early hours of this morning.

There was nostalgia in the talk of every one of the 200 members who were at the "blastoff" party but none felt it more than Frank Stevenson, only remaining member of the 35 who in 1930 bought life memberships for $250 to aid the club to move into the top floor of the Yarrow Building where it was relocated after fire destroyed its original quarters.

"This is a sad night, in a way," he said, "but we're looking forward to a happy one February 15," referring to the scheduled opening of the new building on Wharf Street.

Jack Phillion, president and prime mover in the change of quarters, said he thought the Yarrow Building facilities excellent but "any successful men's club should not rent, but own its own building."

They are great conversation pieces and 10 years ago, when the club undertook renovations and replaced the old photos with new bright pictures, there were so many objections raised that the historic scenes were returned to their places of honor.

The staff will have its farewell party with members acting as hosts and waiters.

AFL-CIO Told

Canadian Labor Must Keep Rights — Morris

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian labor movement believes it must retain its right to make decisions concerning its own national affairs, Executive Vice-President Joe Morris of the Canadian Labor Congress told the AFL-CIO convention here Friday.

Referring to differences which have brought attacks by certain segments of the AFL-CIO against the CLC and its officers for their position in the Great Lakes labor dispute and the Canadian government's maritime union trusteeship, the former Vancouver Island IWA official said:

"We must . . . retain the power to make decisions—right or wrong—which affect us and the welfare and progress of those we represent."

Boycott Mars Friendship Night

MOSCOW (AP) — Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin said Friday night he cannot understand how the Russians' arrest of Professor Frederick C. Barghoorn on spy charges "can color the whole range of Soviet-American relations."

Deploring President Kennedy's postponement of negotiations that were to have begun Tuesday on extension of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program, Zorin told reporters: "I think it is a completely artificial link."

The U.S. embassy pointed up the American anger over the detention of Barghoorn, a Yale University professor who writes and lectures on Soviet affairs. Embassy personnel boycotted a Moscow meeting marking the 30th anniversary of U.S. diplomatic recognition of the Soviet Union.

Zorin talked with reporters at the meeting, held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev, wife of the premier. She is deputy chairman of the Soviet Institute of Soviet-American Relations.

it's because their plans were so far advanced they're planning to come anyway."

Roy Corbett, managing director for the B.C. Hotels Association, said Friday the accommodation picture is "real tight downtown" and it's getting that way in the suburbs.

Young Liberals Told

Another Election Near

MONTREAL (UPI) — Keith Davey, national organizer and executive director of the Liberal Party, told a convention of Young Liberals Friday that another general election may be in the offing.

The election would be necessary, he said, because of two factors: Conservative stalling tactics and the need for a majority government in Ottawa.

Davey told the Young Liberal Federation that a national election is one thing the country doesn't need.

"The people are tired of elections," he said. "The press is tired of elections and the politicians are tired of elections."

"But," he continued, "I would also like to suggest that the people also are tired of endless votes of confidence and of the tactics of obstruction and delay.

"This situation," he said, "may soon require a general election."

Davey said his opinions were his own and not those of Prime Minister Pearson or of the National Liberal Federation.

TEACHERS ACCEPT FINAL PAY OFFER

Final salary offer representing an overall increase of just above two per cent, made by trustees of the Greater Victoria school district Thursday night, was accepted by the teachers' negotiation committee at 5 p.m. yesterday.

In 1962 teachers asked for increases of 12 per cent and settled for 4.07 per cent.

The teachers, who were seeking salaries increase between five and eight per cent, continued to meet the trustees even though conciliators had been appointed.

LONGER TIME

Usual procedure of the salary meetings had been to talk from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., but Thursday the discussions went on until 1 a.m. Friday, with the board's final offer rejected.

At 11 a.m. yesterday the teachers' negotiators informed the board they had taken a second look at the offer and would present it to the committee at 4 p.m.

An hour later they informed the board the committee had agreed to take the offer to the association, a move tantamount to acceptance.
